

Dr. Dustin York's Bio

Dr. Dustin York is the Undergraduate and Graduate Communication Director and Associate Professor at Maryville University in St. Louis. Prior to entering academia, Dr. York worked in public relations for the 2008 Obama Presidential campaign, and for clients like Pepsi Co., and Nike. Dr. York's specialties include interpersonal, group and public communication, as well as social media and brand development, which he now brings to life in the classroom. His dissertation, further research and grant work focuses on both nonverbal communication and innovative and emerging communication tactics.

Beyond his primary passion in teaching, Dr. York writes for Entrepreneur.com and PR Daily, and he is a keynote speaker and trainer. Dr. York was awarded the St. Louis Business Journal 30 Under 30 Award, Maryville University's President's Award for Strategic Leadership and Transformation Innovation as well as an Apple Distinguished Educator.